The horse racing picks experts at online racebook SBG Global have listed Mr. Hot Stuff at 15 to 1 2009 Belmont Stakes odds. Mr. Hot Stuff could be a sleeper for horse bettors looking for horse racing picks with a decent 2009 Belmont Stakes odds payout of $1,500.00 for every $100.00 wagered.

&ldquo;I talked myself into using this horse in the bottom of my exotics on Derby Day and wound up wasting more money than I should have,&rdquo; stated VegasInsider.com Horse Racing Picks Expert Anthony Stabile when asked to comment on 2009 Belmont Stakes odds on Mr. Hot Stuff. &ldquo;He didn't have the best trip and was stuck with a bad inside post but he still never fired. I don't like the fact that Harty has worked him solely over synthetics leading up to the Belmont and think he may be a cut below these. With all that said, I think he may be one of the few that will actually handle the added distance so he rates a chance at a minor award, but nothing more.&rdquo;

One thing Mr. Hot Stuff has going for him is that he will be ridden by veteran jockey Edgar Prado from the 3rd Post Position. Mr. Hot Stuff Trainer is Eoin Harty. Bet on the 2009 Belmont Stakes at online racebook SBG Global and receive up to 265% in cash bonuses.

&ldquo;Okay, I know he's a shot in the dark, understandably, but he's the only horse in the race who's A-game puts him on a plateau to compete with a top effort from 'BIRD or DUNKIRK,&rdquo; stated Horse Racing Picks Expert Jeremy Plonk of HorsePlayerPro.com about the 2009 Belmont Stakes odds on Mr. Hot Stuff in his Belmont Stakes column on ESPN titled Countdown to the Crown: June 4, 2009. &ldquo;We know he'll get the distance, he's freshened and Mr. Belmont Stakes, Edgar Prado, simply fits in the saddle. History tells me not to give up on my Derby pick too soon. Still, I'll tread lightly on him Saturday, using him more underneath MINE THAT BIRD.&rdquo;
