Kansas vs Kansas State College Football Picks Week 10: Quarterback Todd Reesling and the Kansas Jayhawks are streaking; unfortunately it's a three game losing streak as they travel to the Kansas State Wildcats where will both be gunning for a victory on Saturday when they meet at Snyder Family Stadium. The lead in the Big 12 North is at stake as the Wildcats are in the lead at 3-2 within the conference and have a much easier schedule than the Jayhawks.

Kansas was in the top 25 after a 5-0 start but three straight losses and a tough schedule with games at Nebraska and Texas a bowl bid at all is at stake. My college football picks week 10 says take the points the Wildcats will win big at home handing the Jayhawks their fourth straight loss. The College Football Picks Week 10 experts at sportsbook SBG Global have the Kansas Jayhawks -2.5 point favorites against the Kansas State Wildcats.

Kansas dropped a huge Big 12 matchup with Texas Tech, losing 42-21 at Jones AT&T Stadium in Week 9. Dezmon Briscoe had nine receptions for 110 yards and a touchdown for Kansas (5-3, 1/3 Big 12), which lost four of its five fumbles. Todd Reesling completed 20 of 35 passes for 181 yards, his worst outing since he got 162 yards last year against Kansas St. Texas Tech covered as a 6.5-point home favorite while the final score played under the 67-point total. The College Football Picks Week 10 experts at sportsbook SBG Global have the Kansas Jayhawks vs. Kansas State Wildcats Total set at 56.5 points.

Kansas State fell 42-30 to Oklahoma in Week 9, as 28-point underdogs. The 72 points sailed OVER the posted total of 47.5. The Wildcats' Brandon Banks returned a fourth-quarter kickoff 98 yards for a touchdown, the fifth time he's scored on a kickoff return in his career and the fourth time this season -- both Big 12 records. He also caught nine passes for 156 yards. Keithen Valentine carried the ball five times and scored a pair of touchdowns for Kansas State in the loss.
