Alabama RB Mark Ingram Tops 2009 Heisman Trophy Odds: Alabama Crimson Tide Sophomore running back Mark Ingram is the early leading in the 2009 Heisman Trophy Odds watch. Number 22 at 50 and 212 pounds has carried the ball 175 times this season for 1148 yards (5th in the Nation) a 6.6 yards per carry average and 8 touchdowns. Ingram is also a deft receiver snatching 24 balls for 219 yards/9.0 per catch and 3 more tds.

Impressive stats but not Heisman like in my book. Ingram will have to star in a win in the SEC Conference Game and upset the Gators to get my support. The College Football Picks Week 11 makers at Sportsbook.com have the Mark Ingram as EVEN to win the 2009 Heisman Trophy.

Texas Longhorn senior quarterback Colt McCoy is 2nd in the early 2009 Heisman Trophy watch as he has the Longhorns undefeated and in the hunt for the Big 12 and BCS National Championship. McCoy has thrown 231/317 for 2,447 yards, 17 touchdowns with 9 interceptions and a passer rating 149.73. Not only good stats but the fifth-year quarterback is 38-7 in 45 career starts a Longhorn record for wins and tied for third nationally. Colt will need to keep Texas undefeated and have a strong finish to the season to win the Heisman. The College Football Picks Week 11 makers at Sportsbook.com have the Colt McCoy as +200 to win the 2009 Heisman Trophy.

Florida Gators quarterback Tim Tebow should already have two Heisman Trophy's but the southwest voters didn't have him on the ballot for some reason last year. This year the senior is still winning and unquestionably the most valuable player on any college team. Tebow doesn't have the outstanding passing or rushing stats, he just leads the team to wins however it takes. If the Gators win the SEC title game and are playing for the BCS Title game again, I say the 2009 Heisman Trophy is his! The College Football Picks Week 11 makers at Sportsbook.com have the Tim Tebow as +300 to win the 2009 Heisman Trophy.

Notre Dame's Jimmy Clausen has been talked about all year and has the stats to be in the running for the Heisman. The downside with Clausen is the record, already 3 losses and not an easy schedule remaining. If the Irish could win out and Jimmy lights up the scoreboard he has an outside chance. The College Football Picks Week 11 makers at Sportsbook.com have the Jimmy Clausen as +400 to win the 2009 Heisman Trophy.

Houston Cougars quarterback Case Keenum's stock is rising in the 2009 Heisman Trophy watch as he has his team winning and has thrown for 3,815 yards, 28 touchdowns, and a 158.92 passer rating. Only a junior, Case has already thrown for 11,094 yards and 86 touchdowns. If the Cougars win out and he stays hot he deserves consideration. The College Football Picks Week 11 makers at Sportsbook.com have the Case Keenum as +700 to win the 2009 Heisman Trophy.

Others worth mention are Jacquizz Rodgers the sophomore running back for the Oregon State Beavers and Kellen Moore quarterback for the undefeated Boise State Broncos. The College Football Picks Week 11 makers at Sportsbook.com have the Kellen Moore as +1000 and Jacquizz Rodgers as +1500 to win the 2009 Heisman Trophy.
